

Markt – Homepage Development Brief

Overview

Markt is a next-generation e-commerce platform designed to replicate the natural, social experience of buying and selling in physical markets — but in a digital environment.

Unlike traditional e-commerce platforms that feel transactional and restrictive, Markt focuses on trust, interaction, and control, giving buyers and sellers a more human and engaging experience.

Core Concept

Markt blends e-commerce + social interaction.

It allows users to:

- Discover products through people, not just listings
- Interact directly with sellers
- Build familiarity and trust before making purchases
- Participate in real-time buying experiences (e.g. live selling sessions)

The goal is to make online commerce feel as natural as walking through a market, talking to sellers, and making confident decisions.

Final Note

The homepage should immediately answer:

“Why should I use Markt instead of any other marketplace?”

If that isn’t clear within 5 seconds, the design has failed.
